Reasons to Train the Trainer

The best option for training employees is occasionally hiring a third party organization to carry out the training and certification. There are however numerous good reasons to send a few of your workers to Train the Trainer courses. Your business could benefit by making the most out of your investment. Teaching an existing staff person to train other workers is less expensive than engaging the services of someone new. Companies need to avoid expecting people to take on trainer responsibilities on top of their existing responsibilities. The designated trainer has to be relieved of some of their duties to be able to avoid trainer burnout.

Your business will be more empowered by developing its own internal training resources. It would help to increase the company's resources and would encourage the workers to become more self-reliant. Your workers might well be more comfortable using an in-house trainer when learning new skills. By internally training, new staff could quickly be trained and brought up to speed on the machinery in case of employees turnover.
